The public procurement system in Algeria has undergone several important reforms, the latest of which is Law 23-12, which defines the specific rules relating to public procurement, which succeeds the comprehensive public finance reform plan resulting from Organic Finance Law No. 18-15 aimed at promoting good governance and transparency in the management of public funds. Strengthen production and national production instruments, in particular branded start-ups and small businesses not covered by Decree No. 15-247 on the organization of public procurement and public utility mandates.

If the objective of the conclusion of public contracts is primarily to ensure the proper functioning of public utilities and the implementation of works and services and the speed of their completion, but the achievement of that objective depends on the proper performance of the contractual obligations arising from public contracts and in accordance with the conditions contained therein, and in this regard, this body came to discuss the nature of the legal mechanisms associated with the implementation of public contracts under the provisions of Law No. 23-12 and their effectiveness in reducing enforcement problems?
